Ande and Adrienne,

Attached are two pictures of the yellow barge. The first shows the barge leaving San Leandro bay yesterday and the second picture shows the barge parked at Winter Island this morning. Tomorrow we will send you a schedule for moving the docks next week.

Thanks,

Rick

Rick,

I await photos of PSPYH with removed docks with confirmation of their destination and use.

Please don't make me write you a 35 day enforcement letter, which I am going to do if you don't take care of this by close of business tomorrow.

Thanks,

*Barge was first anchored in May 2011
 after work @ EBRPD Aquatic Cnt.
 It is old & sinks easily, but informant thinks Mosleys still want it because their employee - who lives on Alameda Is.
 keeps an eye on it.

Rick, it was good talking to you again. Just so there is no misunderstanding, I want to confirm our agreement:

1. The yellow lash barge at San Leandro Bay will be towed to an anchorage at Broad Slough, located between the Sac and SJ Rivers and owned by Winter Island Farms (a Duck Club, Bob Cologne president) who you pay for the use. The move will take place by July 25th and you will confirm with photos on July 26th.
2. The Oyster Pt docks that are stored at Pt San Pablo Yacht Harbor will be towed to Herman and Helens Marina at Empire Track Island by July 31st, confirmations photos to be sent the next day. The marina will replace their docks with your docks.

Again, thank you for responding to our requests quickly.

Ande
